NUTSIA NEVER TO BE TRUSTED WITH MATCHES!

Flaming heck!

Stunt goes wrong, bloke nearly dies!

panky Spangler is a lucky man (albeit one with a rather silly name). This here camper van a) contains him in the driver's seat, and b) has just unexpectedly erupted into a fireball and is about to smash down nose-first onto a pile of junk cars.

The stunt driver was meant to be jumping through a series of planned explosions, but found himself immersed in this huge fireball when things went wrong. Luckily, he was freed and able to walk to a waiting ambulance. Which presumably exploded and crashed into a nearby shark tank!

Nuts EXCLUSIVE!

The reality TV show unearths another Home Counties babe!

uch like a Premier League leg break or any YouTube video involving snakes and mice, there's something just awfully, painfully riveting about ITV2's The Only Way Is Essex. We're horribly hooked.

So we welcomed the recent addition to our twice-weekly guilty-pleasure fix of Maria Fowler - a bubbly brunette with a gob for gossip and a 34E chest for, well, other stuff.

Maria made quite a splash last week, see, when she told Lauren that Sam and Amy had told her that Lauren's ex, Mark, is seeing a new girl, Lucy, who Sam went to school with, who he met while on holiday in Marbella and... Oh God. Shoot us now!

Rooney's mad, Paul Merson on the crazy transfer saga!

ith talk of falling out with his manager, handing in a transfer request in the summer, criticising the club and finally signing an unlikely fiveyear contract, Wayne Rooney's kept us glued to the news all week! But how to make sense of all these high-powered shenanigans? We asked Arsenal legend and top TV pundit Paul Merson for the inside scoop on the machinations at Old Trafford. If anyone has a clue about what §≰ went on, it's Merse!

MON, OCT 18

ROONEY CONTRADICTS FERGIE OVER HIS FITNESS!

"I wasn't having that! Who is Rooney to contradict the greatest manager ever? Fergie was probably only trying to keep him out of the limelight. I thought then another club had got in his ear about a move."

Blinged-up Rolls-Royce!

"Diva" edition is gold-plated!

- Fenice Milano, the Italian aftermarket styling house, has turned its attention to the Rolls-Royce Ghost to create a Roller like no other.
- The "Diva" has extensive internal and external restyling, and also comes with a host of technical and performance improvements.
- There are three colours to choose from: navy blue, bronze and pearlescent-whitethe latter two finished with genuine 24-carat gold grille, front bumper and bonnet. All come with gold sill covers, door handles and mirrors.
- The gold theme continues inside, with a gold-plated mini-bar and fold-down picnic tables.
- The original baby Rolls seats and steering wheel have been restitched using biscuit leather with optional white/ bronze Alcantara. Between this and the lashings of gold across the dash and centre console trims, is a generous wedge of grey oak or teak.

 Performance hikes include a tuned electronic control unit, sportier suspension, and an improved induction and exhaust system. There are no specific performance figures for the Diva yet, but a regular Ghost packs 563bhp and can do 0-60mph in 4.7 seconds.

 A standard Ghost will set you back at least £200,000. There's no news on the price of the blinged-up edition but, as the saying goes, if you have to ask, you can't afford it!

The future of TV!

Turns out, you just add Google!

fter conquering the internet like cackling, digital giants, the minted nerds over at Google have decided it's time to jolly up and internetise the humble TV. So they've partnered up with Sony (who also have a bit of expertise here), to create Google TV, and this slick, thin, lovelylooking set is a bit, well, special. And it should hit our shores next year, for around a grand.

A CHOICE OF REMOTE!

You can use the supplied remote, or use your mobile phone – as long as it's powered by Google's Android operating system. Or multiple mobiles, which could get messy...

THE INTERNET, ON TV!

The TV connects to broadband via Wi-Fi for a super-slick surfing experience. You can layers, or continue watching

ON-SCREEN APPS!

As this is Google, you can download apps direct to your TV, so when you fire it up, you can go straight to Facebook, Twitter or internet radio, or just play downloaded games.

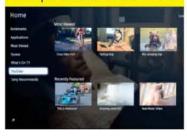

PERSONALISE YOUR TV!

You can customise your TV like your PC's home screen by populating it with your own choice of apps, games, TV and radio channels or websites to greet you when you turn it on!

YOUTUBE!

The TV is made by Google, so a YouTube app unsurprisingly comes pre-installed, with your vids of talking dogs, people falling off skateboards and Glee parodies streamed in HD.

LIVE SEARCHES!

When you're watching a show, your box knows what it is, so if you're watching Arsenal vs Man United, fire up Twitter and it'll give you the real-time Twitter feed on the match.

A QUICK WORD WITH... Richard Hammond

The Hamster on The Stig, dinosaurs, moose and the dangers of the iPad!

i Richard! You've got a new app out. Er, what does it do? It's called Hammond's Car Spotter. You see a tiny detail of a car. If you're sufficiently expert and can guess the car, you get max points. If not, you're shown more of the car and the points go down. It's the most anoraky thing you've ever tried. I'll give you a tip. "Supercars" is easiest. "Every Day" is fking impossible and I work on the biggest car show in the world! At some point, I'm going to have to upload my score to the world championship board and I'm going to be really embarrassed.

James and me were doing
Top Gear Live and we got into a car.
We were going, "This is alright, this new Laguna."

We got out and realised it was the new Vectra. We're supposed to know that!

If James May was an app, he'd be like the route-planner on theaa.com, except he'd take you on the most boring, slowest route possible. He would.

And if Clarkson was an app, the screen would flash and it would make a big noise and you wouldn't be able to turn it off. That's extraordinarily accurate. What would a Richard Hammond app do? If I was an app, you'd press a button to turn me on and I might come on, or your phone might explode.

How about a Stig app, which you tell all your secrets then it uploads them to the internet without asking you? Ha! I did not say that, but that's funny! I wish I'd thought of that gag. Bugger! Are you allowed to have a fullsize iPhone or have you got a fun-sized one? Do you think I've got like a three quarter-sized one so I can hold it in my little paw? No, I carry around a full-size one. But I have to use a rucksack. Do you use an iPad as a fulllength mirror in your bedroom, or is it too dangerous because it might fall over and squash you? There's always that danger. I like the iPad but I think they should make a portable one. I can use my iPad as a surfboard, or a shelter in bad weather. Else the whole Hammond family sit around it > and we use it as a dining table. Finally, there are now US and Oz versions of Top Gear. Who'd host Animal Top Gear? I'd be a honey badger, that's an absolute certainty. Jezza would be a T-rex 'cos he's well out of date – he's a rockasaurus when it comes to his taste in music. Never ever go near his iPod. And James would be probably be a moose.

Download Hammond's Car Spotter from the iTunes app store from 1 November Lake of fire!

Man abseils into an active volcano. Wearing tin foil!

o, he hasn't dropped his keys in. This is bona fide mentalist Drew Bristow abseiling 500 metres into the Marum Volcano – one of only five active lava lakes in the world – on Ambrym Island, Vanuatu, in the South Pacific.

In a special heat-repelling suit and clinging on to a flimsy rope, Drew got within 100 metres of the liquid rock – bubbling away at up to 1,200C. "But why?" we're all pondering. "To document the furious lava lake up close," says James Reynolds, who filmed it all. "And dry my hair – I'd just washed it!" he didn't add.

'I burn in the sun!'

Team leader Geoff Mackley on how and why they did it

Hi Geoff! Firstly, talk us through that metal suit. Was it tin foil, or something a bit more techy? The heatproof suit was made by the fire brigade in Kaipoi, New Zealand, out of aluminised PBI. It's what airport fire crews use. Basically, why the heck did you do this? To get the most amazing pictures of a volcano possible! Fair enough. Was it hot? Not too bad. We aim to get even closer in November! Finally, do you burn in the sun? I do, actually. That's why I wear sunscreen!

70mph mobility scooter!

It's a record-breaking granny GTi!

he days of old ladies taking forever to do anything may finally have come to an end. Plumber Colin Furze, 31, from Lincolnshire, has built the world's fastest mobility scooter by taking the engine out of a motorbike and sticking it on a granny mobile. And it's official – Guinness and their recordestablishing nerds gave him a posh certificate and everything!

Hi Colin! How fast does this bad boy actually go? The top speed is 71.59mph, so it's pretty quick! What made you want to speed up a mobility scooter? Someone gave me a mobility scooter to mess around with and I thought, "What's the fastest someone's gone on one of these things?" I applied for a world record attempt and they said they'd accept it if I got over 61mph.

Did you change anything other than the engine? No. The rules of the world record attempt stated that I couldn't change the appearance of it in any way, so I couldn't put any big wheels on it or anything.

Fair enough. Do you ever use it to just pop down the shops? I can't take it on the roads because it would need tax and MOT, as it's a petrol engine. But when I was testing it. I took it to supermarkets for photographs. It's not that useful, though!

Cheers, Colin! Finally, what do your parents think of it?

My mum's got her eye on it,
I think! She tells all her mates she's going to have the fastest scooter out of all them!

Simpsons stash busted!

Homer leads Mexican cops to 134 tonnes of weed after dawn gun battle!

exican authorities involved in the long fight against drug cartels have been given a helping hand by a band of rather stupid smugglers!

A whopping 10,000 packages of marijuana, weighing 134 tonnes, and with a street value of £216m, were seized in the city of Tijuana after a dawn gun battle between gang members and authorities.

Among the consignment were a number of parcels helpfully labelled with an image of Homer Simpson saying, "Voy de mojarra, que wey!" – roughly translated as, "I'm going to get high, dude!" General Alfonso Duarte Mujica, who was in charge of the raid told reporters, "This is a significant haul. Yes, we're very pleased."

Or as Homer might say, in between puffs, "Woo-hoo!"

"It didn't hurt for about a minute, but blood was gushing out. I went in to show my wife, but she didn't believe me at first
-she started panicking when she saw blood all over my hand!

"I didn't think they'd be able to save my thumb, but the hospital did a great job. The fireplace is finished now too, although I didn't do any more sawing!"

Sick joke!

A bloke is out on the lash with his mates and gets hammered. By the time he staggers home, he's covered in puke, and his wife gives him an earful. The next night one of his mates says, "When it happens again, make sure you've got 20 guid in your pocket and tell her that someone else puked on you and gave you the cash for the dry cleaners!" The guy duly gets hammered and later falls through the door, covered in sick again.

His wife freaks out so he slurs, "It wasn't me! A guy puked on me, but gave me 20 quid for the cleaning!"

His wife checks his pocket and says, "There's 40 quid in here."

Famous last words

Lying in a hospital bed, a dying man begins to flail about and make motions as if he'd like to speak. The priest, keeping watch at his bedside, leans over and asks, "Do you have something you'd like to say?" Handing him a pen and pad, the priest adds, "I know you can't speak, but write a note and I'll give it to your wife. She's waiting just outside." The dying man scrawls a message and stuffs it into the priest's hands. Moments later, he dies. The priest leaves to break the news to the wife and hand her the note.

"These were his last words," he says. The wife tearfully opens the note, and reads, "Get off my fking oxygen hose!" Patrice, York i Simon! Tell us a bit about your upcoming new movie. Burke & Hare is a gruesome comedy based on a true story and directed by John Landis, the man who made the horror classic American Werewolf In London, Andy Serkis (Gollum from The Lord Of The Rings) and I play a pair of Irish grave robbers who made a mint in the 19th century selling bodies for medical research. They weren't excessively violent, just morally bankrupt. They're kind of sweet though. Like an evil Laurel and Hardy!

We read that after William Burke was hanged for his crimes in 1829, they made a pocket notebook bound with his skin. What would you like your skin to be used for when you pop your clogs? Hmm... a nice set of encyclopaedias bound in "me leather" or a special edition A-Z Of Gloucester covered in my taut, leathery flesh!

Nice! You played Scotty in Star Trek and your Scottish accent was a bit rubbish. So, how did you master the Northern Irish accent for this movie? We had a brilliant dialect coach. It's really hard trying to nail an accent. Every accent has a key, a certain word that unlocks it. I'm sure people in Northern Ireland will wince but we did our best! You started out doing comedy on the stand-up circuit. What's the worst gig you ever played? Christmas party audiences out on the stand-up circuit. What's the worst gig you ever played? Christmas party audiences out on a "works do" were tough and really they just wanted to be back at the office, drinking red wine out of paper cups and trying to persuade Tina from accounts to photocopy her vagina!

Top idea! We heard you used to be a pretty big gamer. Do you still do a fair bit of finger twiddling? Sadly, there isn't always enough time for video games these days but I've just done a voice on the new Fable 3 game, so I'm gonna get stuck into that. I'd rather hang out with the missus than Lara Croft these days, if you know what I mean! It's a more enriching experience. But if I can grab an hour when the nipper's napping, it's cool to dip into Bioshock or Left 4 Dead. You went on a road trip across America with your comedy partner Nick Frost recently. What kind of crazy things did you get up to? We nearly died! The computer system on our motorhome broke down. Luckily, we found a motel for the night in the middle of nowhere. The next day, we discovered that it had been so cold overnight, if we'd staved in the truck we'd have frozen to death!

Crikey! Do you watch football? Which team do you support? I supported Liverpool as a kid until I realised I didn't "have" to like football if I didn't want. to. And I don't. I'll always support the national team but this last World Cup just cemented my dislike of what football's become. I wasn't born close to a big team I could get behind like Nick Frost. He's a big West Ham fan. Every season, I see his moods follow the results. I don't think I could stand having to go through that emotional rollercoaster.

What does Fabio Capello need to do to turn things round? Or is he just the wrong man for the job? Make them play as a team. Where's the self-confidence, Fabio? Try a different formation! But the English problem is that we always blame the manager! He's always the scapegoat because we cannot admit the fact that our players are fantastic at club level but average in the national side. Now, I'm a nonfootball person but I see a frightening lack of cohesion in the team. There's terror in their eves but it's our fault because we put so much pressure on them. We're so desperate to recapture the glory of '66 that every time the World Cup comes round, those guys must be sh*tting themselves! I bet they're thinking, "If we don't perform, they're gonna hang effigies of us and we'll be the most hated people in the country." Which they did with Beckham in '98. That's no condition to play sports under. It's a vicious circle! Phew! OK, so tell us, what are some of the best and worst things about being famous? It's a double-edged sword. The misconception is that people who do jobs like I do just do it for that reason. It's just a result of what I do, and not always a good one. It's like having to wear a massive, stupid hat for your entire life! Not being able to have a quiet drink in the pub is a small price to pay for being treated nicely at airports, though! Finally, you were in How To Lose Friends & Alienate People with Megan Fox. How do you concentrate when your co-star is that hot? I have to say it was pretty embarrassing having to dance around in front of her in my underwear. She's a top girl and as gorgeous as she is, you obviously want to be as cool as you can around her. There were loads of scenes where I was trying to seduce her and when the camera stopped rolling, she was kind enough to constantly point out to me that I was old asn't it been top year for British telly totty? Stacks of home-grown honeys have graced our screens—plus a few foreign lovelies, too! So in celebration of a bumper crop of boobs on the box, we asked Hollyoaks' Jorgie Porter to present the best. And she even stripped off herself! Hooray!

NUTS INTERVIEW

Hollyoaks' Jorgie Porter presents...

TV's Sexiest Babes!

It's our tribute to terrific telly talent!

44 Nuts

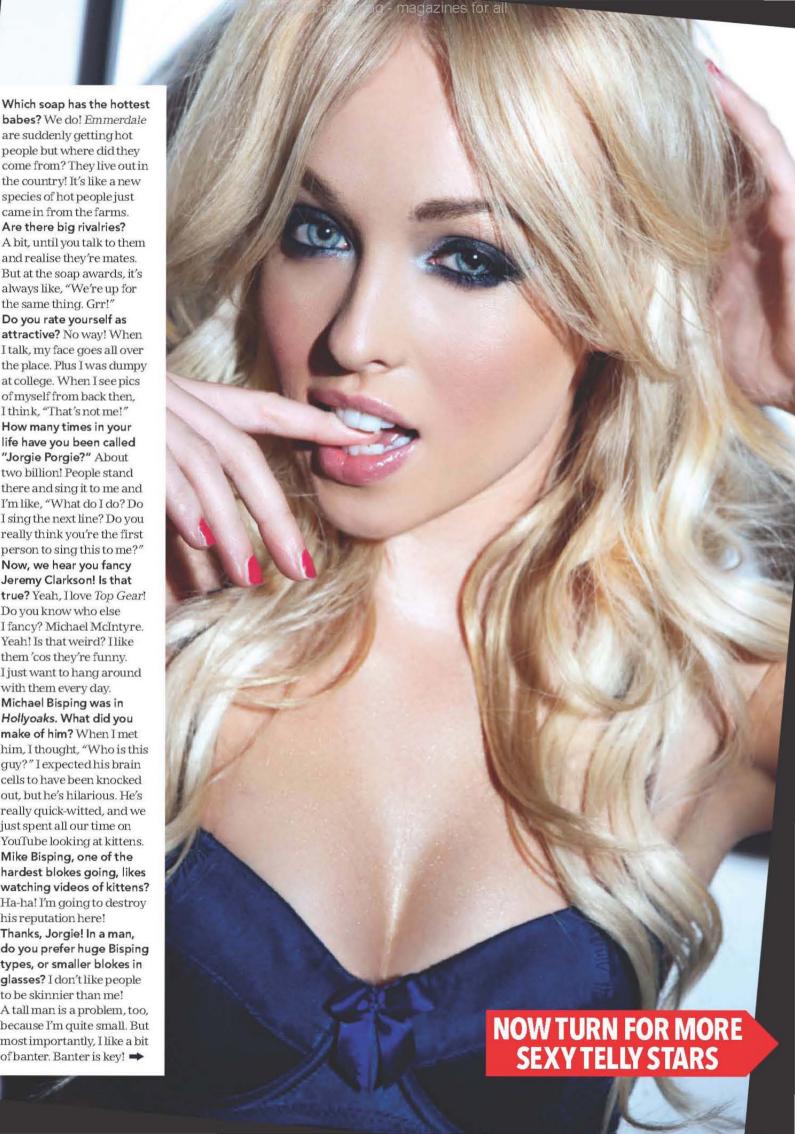

JORGIE PORTER, HOLLYOAKS

Hi Jorgie! Are you nervous about doing a shoot for Nuts? No, I love it! I'm really excited and feel I'm in safe hands - it's so much fun! What's it like to hit the town with the Hollyoaks girls? We tend to all go out together and get smashed! But not so much that we don't remember. It's fun to recap the night's events and laugh about them! Who handles her booze the best? Jenny Metcalfe, definitely. She can drink loads and somehow still be OK. I can't drink as much as I've only got a little body! Who's most likely to go home early? I'd normally say Gemma Merna, but we recently went out and said to each other, "We don't want to miss out!" So we stayed out all night. We had a hotel room and the party went on until we got into our pyjamas at about 5am! Crikey! How would you describe yourself on a night out? Cheeky, chatty and funny! You know you're drunk when you go to the toilet, start laughing and just pull loads of toilet roll off, round and round the roll! I'm a good drunk. When the new characters come in, they usually strip down to their pants straightaway - did you? Yeah! When I first started, I slept with Tony and was straight into my undies! To your knowledge, has anyone from Hollyoaks ever been given the job just because they're really fit? No! Everyone has to go through casting, so they have to be able to act! I've been asked before whether it's more important to be good looking or a good actor. For me, it's better when you can act because you want to bounce off people. We work with a lot of hard storylines! → are suddenly getting hot people but where did they come from? They live out in the country! It's like a new species of hot people just came in from the farms. Are there big rivalries? A bit, until you talk to them and realise they're mates. But at the soap awards, it's always like, "We're up for the same thing. Grr!" Do you rate yourself as attractive? No way! When I talk, my face goes all over the place. Plus I was dumpy at college. When I see pics of myself from back then, I think, "That's not me!" How many times in your life have you been called "Jorgie Porgie?" About two billion! People stand there and sing it to me and I'm like, "What do I do? Do I sing the next line? Do you really think you're the first person to sing this to me?" Now, we hear you fancy Jeremy Clarkson! Is that true? Yeah, I love Top Gear! Do you know who else I fancy? Michael McIntyre. Yeah! Is that weird? Hike them 'cos they're funny. I just want to hang around with them every day. Michael Bisping was in Hollyoaks. What did you make of him? When I met him, I thought, "Who is this guy?" I expected his brain cells to have been knocked out, but he's hilarious. He's really quick-witted, and we just spent all our time on YouTube looking at kittens. Mike Bisping, one of the hardest blokes going, likes watching videos of kittens? Ha-ha! I'm going to destroy his reputation here! Thanks, Jorgie! In a man, do you prefer huge Bisping types, or smaller blokes in glasses? I don't like people to be skinnier than me! A tall man is a problem, too, because I'm quite small. But most importantly, I like a bit of banter. Banter is key! -

United right now, how important is your role in the team? The history here demands you understand that you're representing something very special. This is why I came to Manchester in the first place and was determined to fight. You did indeed have to fight because a couple of seasons ago, it looked like you were on your way out! Yes, there were problems, but I'm not a quitter. I knew I had to be patient and work hard. I hope I'm now starting to show what I can do. I can say I'm at the best moment of my career in Manchester. Every game, I feel amazing!

world! United is the best club in the world and I want to be one of the best players in the world! Can you put your finger on how you turned things around? Confidence is fundamental. I feel this club is my home and this gives me the freedom I need to be an important player. I knew this was a critical season for me and I'm pleased with how things are progressing, for sure.

What do you want to achieve personally this season? For the fans to talk about me in a positive way and believe I'm a United player in every sense. I want to help my team-mates win things and I want to score more goals!

a difficult time, it's incredible to know that the supporters have faith in me. To hear them shout my name feels very good. Finally, is this the most open Premier League title race ever? Chelsea are always strong but I see this more about what we do, rather than looking at other clubs. We were disappointed last season [to finish second] and that gives us motivation for the months ahead. This is a club that has a history of winning big matches and trophies, and we're aware we have a responsibility for this to continue. Man United is about success and anything hat a week! What started as a rumour that Wayne Rooney wasn't entirely happy with his contract offer at Man United rapidly escalated into world news and culminated with a press conference in which Sir Alex Ferguson revealed Wayne wanted out. How they've

"Sir Alex looked like a changed man last week!" got to this situation I don't know, but I think United's loss will be Chelsea's gain.

Much as Man City are being touted as favourites to sign him, he'd be a total pariah in the city of Manchester, and without being far-fetched, he might have to worry about his safety. In London, he'd be able to enjoy some degree of anonymity, and I honestly can't see him moving abroad—it wouldn't suit his game or personality in any way.

Chelsea would offer him Champions League football, a lot of ambition in the transfer market (something his current team haven't been able to show for quite some time) and a base to start afresh with his family.

He's obviously very unhappy at Man United, but I don't think that was a reason for his poor form at the World Cup. I sat with Wayne at the football writers' dinner before the tournament and he was full of beans, talking about United and how he hoped to become the best footballer in the world. There were no signs of trouble, so it must have been revelations about his private life that caused the rift, and perhaps Sir Alex's reaction to them.

As for Fergie, he's been through this sort of stuff before, but he looked a changed man at last week's press conference. He looked bemused and almost tearful at the way footballers have changed, and I think once this is all done, he may feel enough is enough for him.

Man United look like they've lost their way. Without the big man at the helm, there could be really choppy waters ahead!

SILVA STAR

What a goal by David Silva of Man City against Blackpool! It was Messiesque, and I think we might well see the best of the Spaniard from here on in.

UNBELIEVABLY BAD!

SILLY JACK!

I'm a big fan of Arsene Wenger, and I felt for him when Jack Wilshere launched into a tackle to get sent off. It was awful timing after Wenger's recent comments.

Something from the old days!

Kammy! Here's a pic of me with your Sheffield United shirt before a match against Wimbledon in the mid-'90s. Some would have picked a bigname player's shirt, but not me – I went for a real legend!

NUTS ABOUT SPORT!

Funny goings-on in the wonderful world of sport! Send pics, chants etc to tim_bradley@ipcmedia.com

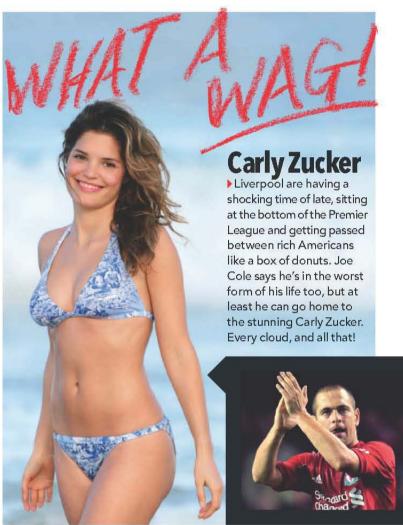

We thought the only time you needed "a hand" in tennis was when you were playing doubles. Well, apparently, Andy Roddick needs one a bit more often than that – like between games!

We've said it plenty of times before, but rugby is just a bit too tough for us. Watching it on the telly is fine, but would we want to end up covered in claret like Boroughmuir winger Harris Jones? No, thanks!

Nuts Poker School

This week: our handy guide to poker hands nless you've been living under a rock for the past few years, you'll have noticed that internet poker has kicked off big time. So we've decided to join forces with internet poker legends PKR to create the Nuts Poker Room online. As the expert players say, poker takes minutes to learn and a lifetime to master, so we've come up with this easy to understand guide to poker hands, so you'll always know what you're holding. It won't help you to spot those all-important "tells" when a rival player is bluffing, or make you a better bluffer yourself, but at least you'll know what beats what in the final showdown. Just stick this guide on the side of your computer screen, and you'll always know if you should hold 'em or fold 'em.

1. Royal Flush

The five highest-ranking cards in sequence – 10, J, Q, K, A and all in the same suit. Nice, but comes around as often as Christmas.

2. Straight Flush

Five suited cards in sequence. The highest card determines the rank of two straight-flush hands – eg a ninehigh hand beats an eight-high one.

3. Four Of A Kind

Four cards of the same rank. If you're holding four kings come showdown and a rival player shows four queens, then the kings win.

4. Full House

Three cards of the same rank, plus another two cards of the same rank. Where there are two full houses, the highest rank of triplets wins.

5. Flush

Five cards of the same suit that are not in sequence. If two players have a flush, the person with the highest card in their flush wins.

6. Straight

Five cards in sequence, not all of the same suit. The highest card within the straight determines the winner when there are two straights.

7. Three Of A Kind

Three cards of the same rank and two non-matching cards. The rank of the three matching cards determines the rank of the hand.

8. Two Pairs

Two separate pairs of matching cards of different ranks within the same hand, with an unrelated fifth card. Highest pair wins in a tie-break situation. Or the fifth card if there are two identical two-pair hands.

9. Pair

Two matching cards of the same value and three unrelated cards. The ranking of the pair determines the overall strength of the hand.

10. High Card

If two players turn over their hands, and neither have made any pairs etc, the person with the best five cards (including those on the flop) wins.

100% STORIES TO OUR SECRETARY!

'My boss saw my hard nipples'

I work in a huge, modern glass building and my boss has an office on the top floor. I was in a meeting with him over the summer and suddenly felt cool. His eyes were fixed on my blouse and my rockhard nipples were standing to attention. I caught his gaze and looked down to my cleavage, stroking a finger inside my bra. That was the only signal he needed. He picked me up and bent me over his desk. Pulling my skirt up with one hand, he unzipped his flies with the other and unleashed his stiffy before pounding me hard and fast in full view of all the buildings around us!

Liz, East London

'I felt he was already hard

When I was 19, I was having a few drinks at my local tennis club and noticed my 32-year-old neighbour was also drinking there. After a few drinks, he realised I was heading home and he offered to come with me and make sure I got home safely. I only lived behind the club, so we cut around the back of the tennis courts. I'd always fancied him and being alone in the dusk by the trees gave me my perfect opportunity, so I turned to him and kissed him full on the lips. He didn't push me away, so I grabbed his jeans and could feel he was already hard. I'd unzipped him and was on my knees before he could even check that the coast was clear. I licked his shaft and took him deeply in my mouth while cupping and squeezing his balls with my hand. He groaned loudly with pleasure and it wasn't long before he squirted all over me! After he dropped me off, my mum insisted I go over and thank him in the morning. I couldn't wait for the sun to come up and for him to get his hands on me!

Rebecca, Sussex

He grabbed my vibrator'

The other Sunday afternoon, my bovfriend and I played a game in bed. We had to stay completely silent during sex, saying nothing and making no gasps or moans. It was impossible, but I highly recommend giving it a go. We started off kissing and stroking each other, our faces grinning but not uttering a sound. As his mouth found my nipples and he started biting and licking them, I felt my body flush and gave a little wriggle. As his fingers moved down and inside me, I struggled to stay quiet. He then grabbed a vibrator from out of our bedside drawer and I gave him a look of surrender. Pushing it back and forth inside me drove me crazy and when he slipped a welllubricated finger into my bottom, I couldn't take it any more and let out a huge gasp. I begged for him to be inside me, and so he opened my legs and granted my wish! Janine, West London

'My friends got involved

My boyfriend and I went away for the weekend with another couple who we'd known from years of drinking in our local. While we were in the steam room, I hooked my legs over my man and discreetly played with his growing package. It was quite dark and steamy so I didn't mind when his fingers found their way into my bikini bottoms. I did let out a small gasp as he pinched my nipples and soon our friends had guessed what we were up to. They asked us to carry on and, although I was a bit shocked at first, it really turned me on. My man went down between my legs, which I spread as wide as possible. I could hear some moans from the other two, but not being able to see them properly made it all the more exciting. As he pushed inside me, I felt my friend's fingers squeezing and flicking my hard nipples. It was such a turn-on being watched and I came really hard within a minute!

Man United vs Spurs

ESPN, 4,45pm

SPORT A mouthwatering clash between a Man United side clearly rocked by Wayne Rooney's revelation, and a Spurs team desperate to upset the old order. United won all three meetings last season and the North London outfit haven't won here since 1989! However, Spurs arguably boast the Prem's form player in Rafael van der Vaart, and with Harry Redknapp at the helm, could pull off a surprise at Old Trafford! ****

Training Day Sky1/HD, 9pm

Ethan Hawke is the rookie cop sent out to train with his mentor and experienced pro Denzel Washington. But it turns out Denzel's more crooked than the Leaning Tower of Pisa, and so begins Ethan's training day from hell! ****

TODAY'S MUST-SEE

Newcastle vs Sunderland & Bolton vs Liverpool Sky Sports 1/HD, 1pm

SPORT A top afternoon of footy kicks off with the first Tyne-Wear derby in two seasons as faltering Newcastle take on, well, faltering Sunderland at St James' Park. Sure to be a blood-and-guts affair made for a Joey Barton or Lee Cattermole-type player. Good job they're both likely to play then! After that, Bolton aim to heap more woe on Liverpool's grim season. ***

Thorne: Scaredy Cat

Sky1/HD, 9pm

DRAMA Like the Beeb's Luther earlier in the year, this equally dark Sky1 crime drama's proving its class. A new three-parter begins with DI Thorne hunting two copycat killers. ****

Black Sheep BBC2, 11.30pm

Quite simply the greatest film about genetically modified man-eating sheep ever made. Yes, this New Zealand horror flick has its tongue wedged firmly in its cheek, but it doesn't stint on the splatter as the evil sheep run amok. ★★★★

Psychoville Halloween Special BBC2, 10pm

Four terrifying tales unfold in this one-off of the dark comedy drama from the The League Of Gentlemen team. ***

TODAY'S MUST-SEE

Blackpool vs West Brom Sky Sports 1/HD, 7pm

The Trip BBC1, 10pm

COMEDY Throw two comedy heroes together, get them to be funny in each other's company and it's a guarantee of TV gold, right? Right? Well, maybe. This curious new comedy sees Steve Coogan and Rob Brydon play themselves as they tour the north of England, sampling its restaurants leading to the duo's improvised observations on life, lighthearted put-downs, and pitchperfect impressions over dinner. With a heart firmly in the right place, we like this. Future episodes will dictate whether we grow to love it, though. ***

Chris Moyles' Quiz Night

Channel 4, 10pm

Back for a new series, the quiz show COMEDY sees Chris battling celebrities for top spot on the leaderboard. Guests this series include Wossy, Michael McIntyre and Jimmy Carr. ★★★★

The Apprentice BBC1, 9pm

REALITY Lord Sugar pucks the candidates off to Manchester, and not just to get them a couple of hundred miles away from him for a few hours. There, they have to open pop-up shops at the Trafford Centre to flog a load of top clobber. First, the two teams must select a clothing range from some of London's up-and-coming designers, then charm them into allowing them to represent their brand. After which we get to sit back and watch it all go wrong in typically hilarious, er, fashion before one of them gets the chop. ***
